Dear reader,

Magazine ZAŠTITA is the Croatian and regional trade magazine covering protection and safety of people and property. For the last eighteen years we have been bringing the latest news from the international and domestic safety and security sector, with special attention to physical and technical protection. Additionally, we provide analyses of technological breakthroughs on video surveillance and alarm systems markets, opening topics of vital importance to the safety and security industry and present the problems of protection and safety, which we believe will be the key issues of the 21st century, to the general public.

Growing safety and security industry in Croatia, including both the public and the private sector, recognised the value of ZAŠTITA as an important partner. Our articles, themes and analyses are used as references by other printed and electronic media in Croatia.

ZAŠTITA features a broad range of authors, from the highest state officials, eminent safety and security professionals, security companies directors, top technological security equipment manufacturers and importers, security managers, renowned police, fire fighting and security experts.

We cooperate with the best Croatian and foreign security companies. We are not just a proud media sponsor of security conferences and meetings (ASDA, Interprotext, iSEC, Adria Security Summit...) but we also organise our own security conferences – for instance Adriatic City Security, School Security, Security in Banks, Civil Protection, CUAV, UAV & Robotics Show etc.

We strongly believe that you will find your interest for advertising in the magazine, and improving your business through our cooperation.

Welcome to the world of ZAŠTITA magazine!

Team of ZAŠTITA

WHY ADVERTISE IN ZAŠTITA MAGAZINE?

Introduce your company, products and services, and meet people from the world of protection and security.

Our readers - more than 7000 - come from the leading companies for physical and technical protection, police, bodies of state and local administration, military and fire departments; they are detectives, security managers, safety engineers, bodyguards and everybody else who is active in the security business not only in Croatia, but also in the neighbouring countries (Bosnia and Herzegovina, Kosovo, Macedonia, Montenegro, Serbia and Slovenia). Because of similar languages, Magazine Zaštita has readers in all the countries of former Yugoslavia.

Our Editorial Board gathers a team of professionals and experts; their articles provide guidance for the analysis of new technologies and improvement of security in society.

There also is a popular web portal www.zastita.info, a guide through everyday news, changes and happenings from the world of protection and security.

A wide range of seminars and conferences that are regularly organized by Zaštita magazine is an added value and proves us a worthy partner for cooperation.

In a time when market is overcrowded with the widest range of printed and electronic media, it is clear that one cannot closely monitor all, but will only look out for the best sources of information and will only devote its time to the most useful articles of the highest quality.

Our magazine offers precisely that - through our topics, interviews, articles and news we are making business and everyday life of our readers easier, bringing them the best cost benefit.
